SUN AND SHADE.

A little cloud will surely mar
The sun's effulgence, dear,
And as we see it from afar
We feel the darkness near.

And so one little deed will cast
A shadow o'er our life:
And thus the darkness holds us fast—
We live through pain and strife.

But through it all still shines the sun
Behind the darkened sky,
And soon the gloomy clouds pass on:
Again the light is nigh.

God sends the light and darkness, too,
He sends each pain and care;
But ah! God sends us joys anew,
And sunlight everywhere.

Oh, Mary, dear! when grief doth reign
In thine own troubled heart,
Look far beyond and comfort gain
With but this simple thought:

Though gloomy are the clouds that dim
Our horizon round,
The sun will shed its beams again
And joy 'll be thine dear one!

—Emma Cothinal in Hall's Journal of Health.

England's Largest Driving Wheel.

The largest driving wheel in England is in use in the woolen mill at Darwen. The mill was formerly driven by leather belts, but did not prove successful, and rope driving was resorted to. The 85,000 spindles and preparation are driven by a 2,000 horse power tandem compound engine, with cylinders 23 and 44 inches in diameter and 72-inch stroke, running at 54 revolutions per minute. The flywheel is 30 feet in diameter, weighs 65 tons and is arranged with 30 grooves for 1¼-inch ropes. These ropes lead off to receiving pulleys upon the several floors, so that each floor receives its power directly from the flywheel. The speed of the ropes is 5,089 feet, or practically a mile, a minute. It will interest every American to know that American rope is used on England's greatest wheel.—Power.

Pulling a Western Robber.

The great robber of moisture on the plains in the west is evaporation. The activity of the winds is so great and constant that more vapor is raised from exposed water surfaces than in many regions of greater heat. The annual evaporation is seldom if ever less than four feet, and may rise to eight feet. Water storage upon high plains where there are no trees, if not wholly a delusion, is held to be somewhat delusive. More hopeful is the expedient of deep tillage, for, hidden from the sun and winds in the loose soil and subsoil, the moisture will thus be preserved at the very spot where it is needed to sustain vegetation.—New York Times.

Getting Even.

Church's Uncle (confidentially)—That woman I just sold to Mrs. Gaslupp. She had no right around to the back door side day when I called at her house on business or rank. Made me transact the business through a servant too. But I've got even with her.

Friend—You have given her one of the best pews in the church.

Usher—Wait half an hour. She's right where a stained glass window will throw a red light on her nose.—New York Weekly.

No Reason for a Heavy Rod.

There never was any reason why the butt end of a rod should be as solid as a policeman's baton and its top as tenacious as Home Rulers declare themselves to be. The modern flyrod, which weighs ten ounces, and is either of split cane or of green heart in two parts spliced, is really the primitive willow wand improved upon; the drawn gut cast is the nearest possible imitation of the cast of horsehair with which our grandfathers fished.—National Review.

A Relation of Washington.

One of the treasures of Bucksport is a time scarred oil portrait of the late Mrs. Jonathan Buck, nee Hannah Gale, who was a sister of George Washington's mother. Mr. Buck was the founder of Bucksport and made the first survey of the town in the year 1790. Now the question is, what relation is Bucksport to the father of his country?—Lewiston Journal.

Precious Bullets.

Bullets made of precious stones are rarities in warfare. But during the fighting on the Kashmir frontier, when the British troops defeated the rebellious Hunzas, the natives used bullets of garnets incased in lead. The British preserved many as curiosities.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Every adult man has 1,400 square feet of lung surface; or, rather, the membrane lining the air cells would, if spread out on a smooth, plain surface, cover a surface equal in extent to the above figures.

Although the ordinary systems of duplex telegraphy are generally said to double the capacity of a line, it is now quite clearly understood that up to the present they have been incapable of doing it.

Music beckons the human race on and is followed by the two great columns, the joyous, light hearted and happy, and the sorrowful, wretched and despairing.

The French crown jewels are said to have once included among their number a perfect dragon, two inches in length, carved from a ruby of the first water.

It is just as well to make the best of an ugly woman; sometimes she has more brains than beauty.

THEATRICAL NUISANCES.

But as There Is No Way of Suppressing Them They Must Be Endured.

The highly reprehensible habit of coming into the theater after the curtain is up and disturbing the entire audience in getting properly seated is growing in New York. This is bad. The other and more flagrant violation of individual rights—getting up and hustling for the doors before the curtain goes down on the last tableau—is also growing. This is worse.

There may be and very often are sufficient reasons for some people being late. I can't help but think, however, if there were stringent rules enforced prohibiting any one going or being shown to a seat while the curtain is up there would be a great falling off of this nightly nuisance. The discretion of ushers, properly exercised, is often commendable, but a well known rule enforced by the police, if necessary, would work advantageously all around, for those who come late would know before hand that they must stand until the close of the first act.

As for the person who begins to shuffle into his or her wraps during the most telling lines of the piece and noisily bolts for the exits in the middle of the grand denouement, nothing but a club seems adequate. This because the annoyance is so great and because there is no reasonable excuse for it. I have seen men and women who have the outward appearance of gentlemen and ladies get up thus and stampede as if there were a fire, and have found them loafing in the lobby until the lights were turned out on them.

The desire to get out first is apparently one of those curious freaks of human nature that impels men to jump from the moving train and off the ferryboat before it gets to the dock, and women to run across tracks in front of the horse cars—not because they are in any special hurry, but merely to "get there, Eli."

The effect upon the great majority of playgoers is to spoil their full appreciation if not destroy their understanding of the piece. This matter is so palpably outside the bounds of good taste and the most ordinary exercise of the reasoning faculties that a remedy is not to be readily suggested. Nothing short of a Bowery "bouncer" posted in each aisle with a club would seem to reach the case.—New York Herald.

Bad Temper Under Water.

One of the diving officers that diving has upon those who practice it is the irritability and vapor felt while working in the element; and as this irritability passes away as soon as the surface is reached again, it is only reasonable to suppose that it is caused by the rarefied pressure of air inside the chest affecting, probably the lungs, and through them the brain. My experience has been that while below one may fly into the most violent passion at the merest trifle; for instance, the line may hold too tight or too slack, too much air or too little, or some infuriating wrongdoing on the part of the tender or the boys above, will often cause the temper to rise.

I have sometimes become so angry in a similar way that I have given the signal to pull up, with the express intention of knocking the heads off the entire crew; but as the surface was neared and the weight of air decreased, my feelings have gradually undergone a change for the better, until by the time I reached the ladder and had the face glass unscrewed I had forgotten for what I came up.—H. P. Whitmarsh in Century.

He Had Some Feeling.

One Billie, a ten-year-old not 1,000 miles from Detroit, is about the worst youngster on record, and, strange to say, his fond mother doesn't seem to know it half as well as the neighbors do. Not long ago she opened out on a man who spoke his mind very freely to William.

"Did you tell my son to go to the bad place?" she asked, with a flash in her eye.

"No, ma'am, I didn't," was the prompt contradiction.

"Did you say he would go there some time?" she continued.

"No, ma'am, I didn't," and the man became hot. "I suppose he told you I did, but it isn't true. I haven't much respect for the bad place, ma'am, nor never had, but I've got enough sympathy for it not to wish it any such bad luck as that."

Then he got around the corner quick.—Detroit Free Press.

An Argument Against Ether.

When anæsthetics were first discovered it was urged by those who had learned to admire the dexterity of surgical art that the day of that art were doomed, that surgeons would become mere "padders," and that a false sentiment and fear about pain and the infliction of pain would take from the Bench that fraternity the boldest and [illegible] No more heroes of surgery would now be born.—Dr. Ingalls in St. Louis Medical Journal.

The Voice of [illegible]

The Odds Were Against Him.

Mr. Jonathan Staybolt had no personal objections to young Rudolph Gigsby, who was courting his daughter Clara, but he did wish that Mr. Gigsby would go home a little earlier. Winding the clock, that time honored hint to lovers, had no effect upon him, but Mr. Staybolt thought that a sudden great uproar in the house might prove sufficiently disturbing to make him think that it was about time to go. His plan was to roll the washboiler down the back stairs. Mrs. Staybolt did not enter very heartily into that plot, but she let him have the boiler.

He carried it up stairs early in the evening, and at 11 o'clock he started it. It made as much noise as though it had been a railroad through the house. Mr. Staybolt expected in the intense stillness that followed to hear Mr. Gigsby step out into the hall for his hat and overcoat, but instead of that he heard him say to Clara: "Goodness! How careless it was to leave that boiler where it would fall like that. It's almost sure to get dented."

Then Mr. Staybolt gave it up, and he never knew until after the young people were married that Mrs. Staybolt had told Clara about the boiler hours before he started it rolling.—New York Sun.

Electrifying Seeds.

Dr. Leicester, of Bristol, England, has been studying the growth of seeds in earth artificially electrified. A box three feet long by nearly three wide was filled with choice soil. At one end a zinc plate and at the other end a copper one were placed, and were united outside by a copper wire. They were about one foot square. By the chemical action on the zinc plate, a current passed through the earth toward the copper plate, and returning by the copper wire made a circuit. The box was thus a very simple cell or battery.

Seeds were sown in the soil between the plates, and their growth was much more rapid than that of similar seeds planted in a similar box, but one without the metal plates.

Similar experiments made with glass tanks filled with soil show similar results. Mouseed, sown in an electrified glass tank, was fully an inch high before any sprouts could be seen in unelectrified earth. It was found, too, that if the doctor watered the soil with a little very dilute acetic acid the growth was much quicker in the electrified soil.—New York Ledger.

A Unique Appeal for Mercy.

Ex-Governor Taylor tells a story of how he saw a man come before the governor of a state with a rude fiddle a poor convict had fashioned with his pocketknife and sent to the custodian of the pardoning power as his only appeal for mercy. Christmas eve was approaching, and away up in the mountains stood a little cabin. The fire on the hearth was almost gone. The little children, ragged and unfed, clung about a weeping and disconsolate mother, and the day which should bring peace and joy to all promised only sorrow and wretchedness.

The governor received the simple, rough fiddle, which was a more eloquent plea in its maker's behalf than any human tongue could have made. The records were looked up, and on Christmas day there was rejoicing in a little home over a husband and father restored to his family.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Celluloid.

Celluloid, the composition of which was long kept secret, has for some years been largely employed for imitating articles made of horn, shell, ivory and even marble. It has the immense advantage that it can be welded, melted, molded and shaped without difficulty, and it is for this reason now largely employed for the manufacture of walking stick handles, umbrella handles, piano keys, etc. It has also been used for making rulers, set squares and other similar instruments of precision, for it has been shown that the expansion of this substance is much more regular and uniform than that of wood, and that errors previously unavoidable can be eliminated by its use. This industrial product, now indispensable for a number of articles of everyday use, is simply made up of nitro cellulose, camphor and water.—Montreal Star.

Old Comical Pictures.

There is in the Museum of Turin, Italy, a papyrus roll which displays a whole series of comical scenes. In the first place, a lion, a crocodile and an ape are giving a vocal and instrumental concert. Next comes an ass, dressed, armed and scepered like a Pharaoh. With majestic swagger he receives the gifts presented to him by a cat of high degree, to whom a bull acts as menial conductor. A lion and gazelle are playing at checkers, a hippopotamus is perched in a high tree and a horse has climbed into the tree and is trying to dislodge him.—Philadelphia Ledger.

It creates a soft, smooth, clear, velvety skin, and by daily use gradually makes the complexion several shades lighter. It is a constant protection from the effects of sun and wind, and prevents sun burns and fire flies, and blotches will not come while you use it. Every lady, young or old ought to use it, as it gives a magnificent appearance to any lady, and that permanently. It contains no acid, spirits or alkali and is as harmless as dew and as nourishing to the skin as dew is to the flower. SONOMA, JULY 9, 1892.

GLEN ELLEN.

Quite a number of our people attended the Fourth of July celebration at Sonoma.

W. H. Murray, representing the Pacific Rural Press, was in town last Wednesday.

Poppe Bros. of Sonoma passed through town last Tuesday en route to Santa Rosa.

Bruce T. Ephlin and Rev. J. F. Tobey have gone to Santa Cruz for a month's vacation.

Fishing is still good in this vicinity and the sport is indulged in by both great and small.

Harry Goodman, the barber, has gone to Fresno to reside. A vacancy in that line now exists here.

The Glen Ellen Grange has leased the Borman building for their entertainment next Thursday.

School begins here on Monday, July 18th. Miss Jordan of Petaluma has been employed as teacher.

The bear that recently escaped from the O'Donnell ranch was seen on Beverly Hill north of town a few days ago.

A display of bunting and fire works was one of the principal features in Glen Ellen on the Fourth of July.

Miss Mattie Peters of San Francisco, formerly of this place, is spending several weeks with friends in this vicinity.

The temperance beverages sold at the Sonoma celebration did not agree with the digestive apparatus of some of our people.

The installation exercises of the newly elected officers of the Native Sons took place last Saturday, R. P. Hill, District Deputy, officiating.

Owing to the scarcity of hay the participants in a certain hay ride one night last week have resorted to the use of liniments to relieve their aches and pains.

In turning the corner at the Mervyn Hotel last Sunday evening the carriage driven by Dr. O'Donnell, in which were seated several ladies and gentlemen, overturned, but fortunately all escaped injury.

REMINGTON.

Glen Ellen, July 7, 1892.

The Campaign.

The fight between Cleveland and Harrison will be one of the hottest on record. Protection, Free Trade, Reciprocity and every phase of the Tariff Question, the Silver Question and other national issues will be discussed in every city, town and hamlet from Maine to California. The whole country is aroused and the interest is already at white heat—nothing else seems to be talked of. The History Company of San Francisco, recognizing the immense demand for political literature, have issued two beautiful new books which will sell like wild fire. One is the lives of Cleveland and Stevenson with able discussions of Democratic principles by powerful Democratic statesmen—the other, the Lives of Harrison and Reid with splendid articles by equally eminent Republican leaders. Every voter should have these books. The sale promises to be enormous. The publishers want live agents, as will be seen from their advertisement in another column. Such a splendid chance for rapid money-making is rarely offered, and those who would take advantage of it must act at once, as thousands have been waiting for the opportunity and the publishers will be overwhelmed with applications.

State Convention of Olive Growers,

The Second State Convention of olive growers and manufacturers of pure olive oil will convene at 220 Sutter street, San Francisco, at 10 o'clock A. M., Thursday, July 21st, 1892, under the auspices of the State Board of Horticulture. All those interested in the culture of the olive and the manufacture of olive oil are cordially invited to be present at said convention and to participate in its deliberations. The meeting will be largely attended, and valuable papers will be presented, to be followed by general discussion. An exhibition of pure California olive oil will be made and also an instructive display of varieties of olives. All will receive a cordial welcome.

ONE PURE ARTICLE OF FOOD.

The Royal Baking Powder Commended.

It is particularly gratifying to consumers to know that the baking powder which they have so long been accustomed to using, the Royal, has invariably gone through the official analyses not only without a reflection against it of impurity and unwholesomeness, but each time more emphatically endorsed as the superior of all the baking powders of the market.

The health authorities of a number of States have recently made exhaustive examinations of this character, and with the uniform result of finding the Royal superior to all others. The United States Government Chemist, after an examination for the Indian Department, made the emphatic statement that "The Royal Baking Powder is the purest in quality and highest in strength of any powder of which I have knowledge." The authorities of Canada have been making an elaborate study of the baking powders sold there. The official analyst of Ontario says as the result of his investigation that he "finds the Royal Baking Powder far superior to the others," and goes so far as to recommend its use in preference to any other. Likewise a series of over five hundred tests for strength made by public analysts and other chemists of prominence throughout the country show it to produce an average of twenty-five per cent. more leavening gas than any of its competitors.

A company that maintains this high standard for its product against the temptations of the enormously greater profit that would accure from the use of the cheaper materials employed by others (for the alum baking powders are produced at a cost of three cents per pound) is entitled to this public commendation and endorsement.

"When your heart is bad, and your head is bad, and you are bad clean through, what is needed?" asked a Sunday-school teacher of her class. "I know—Ayer's Sarsaparilla," answered a little girl, whose sick mother had recently been restored to health by that medicine.

Information Wanted.

Information is wanted at this office of George Corrall, who came to Sonoma county twenty-eight years ago. He has a cousin residing somewhere in the county named Adolph Bence, who has a vineyard. Corrall originally came from New Jersey. He will hear of something to his advantage if he will send his address to this office.

Dead Sea Fruits.

They slay multitudes when they are the product of neglect of incipient disease. A "slight" cold, a fit of indigestion, biliousness, or constipation each or any of these "minor ailments" advance in many cases with "legion-destroying strides." Give them a swift, early defeat with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters and avert the danger. Aberrethy administered an alarming rebuke to the man who informed him that he had "only a cold!" "Only a cold," repeated the doctor. "What would ye have—the plague?" Rheumatism and la grippe are easily extinguishable at the start. Why then allow them to get up a full head of steam? Put on the brakes with the Bitters. THE FOURTH IN SONOMA.

Parade by the Native Son's and Firemen.

The Picnic and Ball a Grand Success.

The Native Son's of Sonoma, than whom none in this community are more alive to the observance of our natal day, celebrated the Fourth in Sonoma in a manner that reflected great credit on the society. The undertaking was by no means an easy one as there were many obstacles in the way of getting up a celebration. But the Native Son's were equal to the occasion, and with the assistance of the firemen, gave one of the finest dress parades that has taken place in Sonoma for many a day.

Beaury Spencer and W. W. Ellis acted as Marshals.

At 9 o'clock, headed by the Sonoma Valley Band of fifteen pieces in full uniform, the procession, composed of forty firemen in their bright new uniforms, the Native Son's in regalia and a number of citizens in carriages marched around the Plaza to strains of martial music. The town was handsomely decorated with American flags, banners and streamers, and with the people that lined the sidewalk presented an animated appearance.

At 10 o'clock the procession broke ranks and all repaired to Maxwell's Grove, where a picnic was held and the following exercises were carried out:

Music	Sonoma Valley Band
Remarks	Hon. Robt. Howe
Music	Band
Reading Declaration of Independence	Miss Rosalind Harrison
Music	Band
Song, "Star Spangled Banner,"	Mrs. J. P. Weems
Music	Band
Oration	T. J. Butts
Music	Band

At the conclusion of the oration Hon. Robt. Howe arose and paid a glowing compliment to the Native Son's for the excellent manner in which they had managed the affair, and feasting and dancing was then indulged in until late in the afternoon.

The ball in the evening at Union Hall was very largely attended, the music being furnished by a $90-band.

is not enough to even mention briefly the scores of resorts throughout California.

In Mountains we have between Shasta on the north and San Jacinto on the south the myriad peaks of Sierras and the Coast Range.

In Lakes there are scores, from the small glacier cups to the great inland seas of Tahoe, Clear and Tuare.

In Mineral Springs we have hundreds that cure all sorts of ailments

In Seaside Resorts there are scattered along the coast at convenient intervals enough salt-bathing and recuperating establishments to accommodate all inland leisure seekers.

There is therefore no lack of variety, and no excuse for the dweller by the sea in not making a tour into the mountain, or the dweller in the inland valleys and mountains in not seeking a journey to the sea.

The sum total of these remarks is that your readers need a change; you can better afford to take one than not. Mark that. You can take your choice of localities and you may be breaking some of the commandments if you do not attend to this matter.

The Rural Press, which is essentially the farmer's paper of California, has greatly improved of late under the new management of A. Holman. This paper should be found in every farm house in Sonoma Valley, as it contains information valuable to every farmer, and his wife and children. W. H. Murray, representing this excellent publication, was in town one day last week and added many new names to the subscription list.

A. F. Pauli, well and favorably known to every resident in this valley, has been tendered and has accepted the position of foremen and cellar master of Dresel & Co's. extensive vineyard and winery near this place. Mr. Pauli entered upon the duties of his responsible position last Saturday. Messrs. Dresel & Co's wines have a widespread reputation in the East for their purity and bouquet and thousands of gallons are shipped yearly direct from their winery to the principal cities on the Atlantic seaboard.

Miss Jennie Gaines, a young lady residing with her parents on First-street East, had a narrow escape from falling down a well forty feet in depth last Monday. The well, which had not been used for a number of years, was covered with two layers of boards. The young lady being unaware that the boards had become rotten with the lapse of time stepped upon them. The center board immediately gave way beneath her weight and she dropped almost to her arm-pits over the yawning chasm, when she grasped the boards on either side of her, which were somewhat stronger than the others, and drew herself out of her perilious position, none the worse for her adventure.

AN IMPORTANT FIND.

Artesian Water and Natural Gas Developed

On the Senator Jones Tract South of Sonoma.

For several months W. B. Pless, manager of the Senator Jones tract of twenty thousand acres of meadow lands bordering Sonoma creek, has had artesian well-borers at work on various parts of the ranch to develop a series of flowing wells for irrigation and stock purposes. Several fine wells have been developed but the water did not flow over the ten-inch pipes used in bringing the aqueous fluid to the surface.

On last Wednesday, however, the efforts of Mr. Pless were crowned with success. On that day a fine flowing artesian well was struck which flows over a ten-inch pipe in torrents. At the present time the pipe is raised about two feet above the ground, but when the casing of the well is completed it is thought the water will rise from twenty to thirty feet above the surface.

The water is clear, cool and sparkling and perfectly free from objectionable minerals, and for domestic purposes is all that could be desired.

A natural gas well has also been developed on the same ranch the past week. The fact that artesian water and gas has been found in abundance on the Senator Jones tract is one fraught with much importance to that part of the valley bordered by San Pablo Bay on the one side and Sonoma Creek on the other. The territory within those boundaries embraces many thousands of acres of unreclaimed meadow lands. That these lands can be drained and made to yield enormous crops of cereals and other products has already been satisfactorily demonstrated by Mr. Pless and his great invention, the dredger Nevada.

Now, that artesian water has been found in abundance right in the heart of the Senator Jones tract the land becomes the most valuable in the State for agricultural purposes, and nothing now remains in the way of colonizing the tract with small farmers and making that section the most productive and populous in Sonoma Valley. Already five thousand of the twenty thousand acres have been reclaimed, nearly one-fifth of which was seeded last fall for the first time and produced an excellent crop of hay and barley.

We understand that the colonization plan will be followed out by Senator Jones, since the only obstacle in the way of the enterprise has been removed by the discovery that artesian water for domestic and irrigating purposes exists in abundance on the tract.

THE ARSON CASES.

Charges Against the Accused Dismissed.

The examination of Leroy Manuel and Wm. C. Green, Jr., charged with arson in setting fire to a building in this place two years ago, took place before Judge Brown in Santa Rosa last Tuesday.

G. W. Corbaley was the first witness called. As superintendent of the San Francisco and North Pacific Railway Company he testified as to the ownership of the building, which belonged to that company.

Geo. W. Foutts, who is serving a five-years' sentence in Folsom for participation in the crime, was put upon the stand as the principal witness for the prosecution. But he exhibited a woeful lack of memory, much to the consternation of Assistant District Attorney Leppo, who conducted the case for the people. It will be remembered that Foutts was convicted on his own confession made in writing. But when asked about that confession he did not remember having made any confession at all. Neither could he remember what he was in the State Prison for. In short his memory the past few months has entirely failed him and after fruitless efforts on the part of the prosecution to get him to refresh his memory it was given up as a bad job and Foutts was returned to his temporary quarters in the Santa Rosa Jail, and transported back to the Folsom Prison the following day.

Twenty or thirty other witnesses had also been subpœned by the prosecution and defense. Most of whom had claimed on the streets to know nothing about the case. Judge Brown, seeing that it would be impossible to make out a case against Manuel and Green discharged them from custody.

This is probably the last of this celebrated case.

The attorneys for young Manuel were Messrs. Enos and Farquar, while Geo. H. Maxwell looked after the interests of Green.

CITY AFFAIRS.

Trustees Meeting—The Town Threatened With a Law Suit.

New Road in Mountain Cemetery—A Nuisance to be Abolished---Other Matters.

City Trustees Weyl, Schocken, Litzius, Seipp and Trudgen met in regular monthly session last Wednesday evening to transact the business affairs of the town.

The minutes of the last regular and two special meetings were read by Clerk Breitenbach and approved.

The matter of lighting the town then came up for action, but the committee having the matter in hand asked for further time to make a report and the matter was laid over until the next meeting. A majority of the Board favored the proposition.

On motion of Trustee Litzius the City Marshal was ordered to close up all drain pipes which discharge sewerage into any open ditch or water course running through the town.

The financial report of the Clerk for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1892, was read and referred to the proper committee.

For the better protection of the town and the lives of the firemen it was moved by Trustee Trudgen, which received a second from Trustee Seipp, that store-keepers who have powder for sale shall store the same in one place only, and notify the Fire Department where that place is. It was so ordered.

The matter of constructing a new road in Mountain Cemetery then engaged the attention of the Trustees. Three bids were opened for the building of the road, as follows: Geo. Spanning, $139.50; Baccala & Sonogini, $125; Victor Jansen, $95 and $34 for culverts. On motion of Trustee Schocken the contract was given to Jansen upon condition that he construct the road according to the specifications as advertised.

The matter of sprinkling the streets coming up for discussion, Trustee Schocken reported that G. S. Harris refused to enter into a contract to water the streets by the week or month. That he wanted $50 for the season or nothing. This the Trustees would not consent to and there will be no street sprinkling this season, much to the disgust of almost every property owner in town and people who come to town on business or pleasure.

The city is in danger of having a first class law suit on its hands. H. E. Clement, attorney for the Vallejo estate sent two communications to the Trustees, which were read by Clerk Breitenbach. The lawyer demands $100 for water used the past two years for fire purposes. If his demand is not acceded to he threatens to bring suit against the city to recover that amount. Now, if there is anything that nearly scares an average Sonoma City Trustee out of his "butes" it is the threat of having a law suit on his hands. Evidently Clement knows this and it is dollars to doughnuts that his claim will be paid. The matter after considerable discussion was referred to the Fire and Water Committee.

Clerk Breitenbach was instructed to procure the statutes of 1887 and to have the patent of the Sonoma pueblo lands properly bound.

The Swiss organization was given permission to meet in the City Pavilian after which the Board adjourned.

The following bills were allowed and ordered paid:

G. W. Sparks, salary	$ 31.50
John Revie, street-work	106.00
O. W. Brown, painting fence	60.00
Wm. Green, lumber	18.25

Another Murder at Windsor.

Chas. Crews shot and mortally wounded his uncle Wm. Byrns, near Windsor last Tuesday. His victim lived in great agony until Thursday when he died. The causes that led up to the difficulty were of a domestic nature. After the shooting Crews went to Santa Rosa and bought a railway ticket for Texas. On Thursday he was apprehended at Fresno while on the cars bound for his destination. Deputy Sheriff Fine of this county went to Fresno and secured the prisoner and lodged him in the Santa Rosa Jail last night. Excitement is running high in Windsor over the killing and the people of that town are talking of lynching Crews.

Cakes Without Eggs.

Observing housekeepers quickly learn that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is far superior to other brands in the fact that they never fail to make the finest pastry, and if they wish to be economical they can dispense entirely with eggs and can use a less quantity of butter for shortening purposes. The advantage is not alone in the saving effected but in avoiding the trouble and frequently the great difficulty of securing eggs that are fresh. This is often a serious trouble.

Cakes of various kinds from the informal Griddle Cakes to the stately Bride Cake can be made with Price's Cream Baking Powder, which insures light, sweet and handsome cakes; or when used for Griddle Cakes to be eaten hot enables their production in the shortest space of time, always tender and delicious.

Dr. Price's is the only Baking Powder that contains the white of eggs. None so pure! None so wholesome!

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is reported by all authorities as free from Ammonia, Alum, or any other adulterant. In fact, the purity of this ideal powder has never been questioned.

The Ewell Place Sold.

The Ewell place, one of the finest thirty-six acre farms in this valley, was sold at guardian's sale, last Wednesday for $4,600. The purchaser was Mr. Wm. McElroy, the well-known and popular foreman of Rhine Farm for the past thirty years. Should the sale be confirmed by the Superior Court, Mr. McElroy will have secured one of the finest small farms in Sonoma Valley at a decided bargain. In these dull times and scarcity of money farms and in fact every kind of property is going a begging, with the result that those who have ready cash on hand can almost double their money in a few years by buying up farms in almost any part of California during the present depression of real estate values.

SONOMA INDEX - TRIBUNE.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, JULY 9, 1892.

AUDITING BOOKS AT NIGHT.

One Feature of Expert Accounting That Is Performed in Secret.

"I will venture the estimate," said a well known public accountant recently, "that not one-half of the number of defalcations and thefts from commercial and financial institutions and business houses in the city are never made public.

"Business men," he continued, "are loath to admit that they have been victimized. They go on the theory that publicity in such matters might injure their credit. Consequently, unless the amount is large, every effort is made to keep the matter out of court, even though it entails some loss.

"The public have an idea that the principal work of an expert accountant comes in play in settling estates, examining the books of corporations, making investigations for capitalists who are about to invest money in business ventures, opening up new books and going over the books of institutions that have been robbed.

"That is, however, but a small portion of the work. What we call the auditing feature of the business has developed largely of late. The conduction of this reveals much that is startling in a criminal way, and leads me to the assertion that not one-half of the defalcations committed are ever made public."

When asked for a more complete explanation of the auditing feature the accountant said: "I will illustrate with a case that I have just concluded.

"The books of a large wholesale house were balanced by the office force at the end of the year. They showed the profits to be far less than was expected. The partners had an idea of forming a stock company of their business. They did not question the integrity of their cashier, who had been with them many years. At the same time they were anxious to find out if everything was going properly in their office.

"They explained the circumstances to me, and I proposed auditing their books and outlined the work. It amounts to nothing more nor less than this: Every night after the office was closed the junior partner of the firm met two of my men who were specially detailed for the purpose. Together they proceeded to the office, opened the safe and worked until 3 o'clock in the morning.

"Every individual transaction of the day was taken up and entered on sheets of paper as though we were the clerical force of the house. We never made an entry on the books or attempted to check back from them. For a month we continued the work without the knowledge of the cashier or his assistants.

"The result was as I expected. We discovered an elaborate system of false entries by which the firm had been defrauded for years. The cashier was taken to task, without being informed that his books had been audited. He denied his guilt, threatened suits for slander and assumed a virtuous indignation. When the other set of books was shown to him, however, he wilted, confessed the crime and pleaded for mercy. As he had been with the house for a long time he was permitted to resign, and I of course am pledged to secrecy regarding his identity.

"That case," said the accountant in conclusion, "is but one of many where a crime is hushed up, and," he added, "that wholesale house is not the only one whose books have been audited, nor do we expect to terminate with it the auditing feature of our business."—New York Herald.

As a Substitute.

It was Sunday morning. The Boston young woman who was on a visit to her western relatives spoke to her aunt in a subdued Boston voice appropriate to the day.

"Aunt Rachel," she said, "have you a volume of Emerson in your library?"

"I am sorry to say, Waldonia," responded Aunt Rachel, "that we have not."

"Then I will read a few chapters from the writings of Solomon," said the young woman, taking down the family Bible with a sigh of mild disappointment.—Chicago Tribune.

Glass Eyes.

The resources of ingenuity and science are, indeed, in the opinions of some, absolutely unlimited. An elderly lady, by no means deficient in culture, hearing that a friend who had long lost the use of one eye, had recently been provided with a glass substitute, demanded, in all the eagerness of friendship, "And can she see with it?"

This recalls a case reported not so very long ago in the papers, of a lady who actually sued a man because she could not see through the glass eye he had manufactured for her.—London Tit-Bits.

Beating Off a Dog.

If a dog springs for a man, the latter should guard his face with his arm and try to meet the animal with his forearm. With the right hand he should attempt to catch one of the animal's front paws. The paw of a bulldog is ultra sensitive. If it can be caught, a vigorous squeeze will make the animal howl for mercy and retire discomfited.—Interview in New York Herald.

MEN OF OAKLAND.

THEIR WORDS ARE ABOVE REPROACH.

An Interview With Some Well Known Citizens Brings Out Certain Facts of the Greatest Interest and Importance.

The interviews which follow are from people well known in Oakland and the reader can be assured that every word they say is true. They are certainly most remarkable assertions, and coming as they do just at the present time, they can be read with the greatest interest and profit by all.

George H. Fogg, the well known notary public of 1471 Broadway in the course of a conversation stated these facts: "About five or six years ago I was suffering from a disease of the kidneys which troubled me for a year or so before I discovered what the real cause of my discomfort was. Upon the recommendation of a friend I began taking Warner's Safe Cure and took three or four bottles. It helped me immediately, I spoke of it to friends of mine at the time and many of them have used it with benefit. I still recommend it at every opportunity. Since using the medicine I have had no return of the trouble thought that was some three or four years ago."

"Can you give me the name of any of your friends who have been helped by this remedy?"

"Yes, if you will see Mr. Geo. S. Naismith, the insurance man of 463 Ninth street he will tell you more about it. He took it because he saw my name indorsing it."

Mr. Naismith is well known to the business and social circles of Oakland. He greeted the reporter cordially and said:

"Five years ago I was confined to my bed and the doctors gave me up to die but I am now up and able to attend to my business. Warner's Safe Cure is a great remedy and in my case acted upon my system at once and completely restored me to health."

Mr. B. F. Armstrong senior partner in the well known paint house of Armstrong & Merchant, 46 Third street, San Francisco and whose Oakland home is at 1529 Broadway, said:

"Warner's Safe Cure saved my life and my wife's. I had kidney trouble so bad that I did'nt know a moment's peace while my wife was a martyr to those special troubles peculiar to women. We were induced by our friends to try the Safe Cure and it has completely restored us to health. Now we always keep it in the house and use it as a family medicine and would not be without it for any consideration."

Mrs. Armstrong was also seen at her Oakland home and fully bore out her husband's statements as to her recovery being remarkably strong and healthful in appearance.

George W. Baker is a painter by trade and lives in a neat little cottage at Barryman Station just beyond Berkeley. In answer to our reporter he said:

"Five years ago I had dyspepsia so bad that I did not know what it was to enjoy a meal. I got in such a condition that everything distressed me fearfully and at times I would be seized with pains in my chest and abdomen so severe that I fell to the ground as though my backbone were suddenly severed with an axe. Well do I know what it is to be stricken down in the street and have to be carried home in agony. This went on for over a year and all the while I was trying to find some doctor who could help me but without success. I spent hundreds of dollars and was no better than at first when one day I saw an advertisement of Warner's Safe Cure. It was a big poster on a fence and I tell you sir, I thank God to-day for the man that put it there. Almost in despair I bought a bottle but by the time that was gone I was eating heartily of anything I desired. The second bottle cured me and I don't think I finished it either."

Frederick A. Wilder, the genial proprietor of the Windsor House was seen at his hotel at the corner of Washington and Ninth streets. Mr. Wilder has spent considerable time in Arizona and the southern country and spoke of his experience as follows:

"In 1883 I was in Arizona on business and while there I contracted a severe cold which settled in my kidneys. The bad water of that part of the country aggravated my trouble till I had a well developed case of Bright's disease. I tried different remedies with but slightly beneficial results until last December. At that time I was attacked with the Grip which left me with my kidneys in a very weak condition and also brought on inflammation of the bladder. I began using Warner's Safe Cure and am now on the fourth bottle. It is a fine thing and has done me a world of good. The pain has disappeared from my bladder and the weak feeling from across my hips. I heartily indorse the remedy and am still using it."

Albert Rowe of the Pacific Borax Works, Oakland, in a recent conversation said: "I have had kidney trouble with nervousness and loss of sleep for years. Nothing seemed to help me in the least till I tried Warner's Safe Cure. I have taken about a dozen and a half of the remedy and now my nerves are steady and I sleep like a top."

Judge E. O. Crosby, the well known attorney of 1622 Park street, Alameda said: "Continual office work and sedentary habits brought on me a severe attack of kidney trouble with sleeplessness and weakness across the small of my back. I began taking Warner's Safe Cure and found immediate improvement. I took about fifty bottles and at the end of that time was perfectly well."

The above statements are not from obscure people living in the Eastern States, but from well known persons residing right here in Oakland where the truth of their assertions can be easily verified. Such testimony ought to be convincing.—Oakland Tribune.

Well Paid.

"You gave Hicks a receipt for his bill in full. Did he pay you, Snip?"

"Oh, no, sir," replied the tailor; "but he gave me so many novel excuses for not paying that I have staved off my own creditors, and I thought he ought to be rewarded."—Harper's Bazar.

All went well with the dreaded cough and running from a fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit did all they could for her, but in vain, the grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere shadow, "a mere handful of bones." "German Syrup"

J. C. Davis, Rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, Eufaula, Ala.: "My son has been badly afflicted with a fearful and threatening cough for several months, and after trying several prescriptions from physicians which failed to relieve him, he has been perfectly restored by the use of two bottles of Boschee's German Syrup. I can recommend it without hesitation." Chronic severe, deep-seated coughs like this are as severe tests as a remedy can be subjected to. It is for these long-standing cases that Boschee's German Syrup is made a specialty. Many others afflicted as this lad was, will do well to make a note of this.

J. F. Arnold, Montevideo, Minn., writes: I always use German Syrup for a Cold on the Lungs. I have never found an equal to it—far less a superior. ⑨

NAGLE IN COURT.

In the Justice's Court of Santa Rosa Township, Sonoma County, California.

J. W. RAGSDALE, Plaintiff, vs. F. G. NAGLE, Defendant.

The plaintiff for cause of action against the defendant, alleges: That on the 15th day of November, 1888, said defendant, F. G. Nagle, received from G. W. Call the sum of one hundred (100) dollars, the property of the Sonoma County Abstract Bureau; that of said money said defendant, Nagle, returned to said Bureau the sum of $20 only, and retained, and ever since has retained, the balance of said $100 to-wit, $80, for his own use, and that no part of said $80 has ever been paid; that said Bureau assigned said claim to plaintiff.

For a further and separate cause of action plaintiff alleges: That defendant is indebted to plaintiff in the sum of $80 for money had and received from G. W. Call, November 16th, 1888, for the use and benefit of the Sonoma County Abstract Bureau, which claim has been assigned to the plaintiff, and that no part of the same has ever been paid.

Wherefore, plaintiff prays for a judgment against defendant for the sum of $80 and costs.

RUTLEDGE & PRESSLEY, Attorneys for Plaintiff.

Dec. 9, 1891, complaint filed, summons issued and served. Dec. 15 default and judgment entered against defendant for $80 and costs. Dec. 16th, Nagle pays judgment.
